

VanZandt-Woodside Bid For Two Top State Jobs

HARRISBURG (AP)—U.S. Rep. James E. Van Zandt announced Monday his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate on a ticket with Superior Court Judge Robert E. Woodside for governor.

Van Zandt had been a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination himself. It was widely rumored in GOP circles that he was under pressure to win for the Senate nomination with Woodside.

Van Zandt's announcement came on the heels of an announcement in Washington by U.S. Sen. Hugh Scott that various persons are urging him to seek the Republican nomination for governor.

In a joint statement Van Zandt and Woodside said:

Joint Statement

"In a spirit of harmony and to assure an overwhelming victory for the Republican party at the polls next November, we are jointly announcing our candidacies and jointly asking you to support James E. Van Zandt for the United States Senate and Robert E. Woodside for governor."

Woodside announced several weeks ago that he was a candidate for governor.

Ask Meeting

The statement continued: "To further develop this spirit of harmony, we are asking George I. Bloom, Republican state chairman, and United States Sen. Hugh Scott, to meet with us tomorrow at 3 p.m. in Harrisburg."

Scott, in Washington, declined comment on the proposed ticket. He said he had talked with Van Zandt and he would attend the meeting Tuesday.

The joint announcement by Woodside and Van Zandt was wired to all GOP county chairmen, state committee members and the state finance chairman.

Scott's Position

Earlier Scott said he gave no encouragement to those urging him to run for governor.

Scott reportedly had been favoring Van Zandt for governor while Bloom and others, including the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association, were believed to be backing Woodside.

Scott met with Van Zandt several weeks ago and from the meeting came the reports of a Van Zandt for governor-Walter Alessandrini for senator ticket.

Before the Woodside-Van Zandt announcement, Scott declined to name those urging him to run for governor or to state his opinion on those who had declared their candidacy. He did say, in response to a question, that State Sen. Raymond Saffer of Crawford County was "well regarded by party leaders" as a possible compromise choice for governor.

On another front, Philip T. Sharples, chairman of the GOP State Finance Committee, denied allegations that his group, as fund raisers, were trying to dictate the party slate.

Steel Union Leaders Open Conferences

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Leaders of the United Steelworkers Union opened private conferences Monday to plan strategy for contract talks with the basic steel industry. They gave little indication what the union will seek.

The only solid bit of information came from a union spokesman who confirmed that the USW would consider going after a shorter work week.

But USW President David J. McDonald refused to say how hard the union intended to push for shorter hours.

McDonald Presides

McDonald presided over the opening session of the union's 34-man Executive Board.

The board will meet again Tuesday. Then the 170-member Wage Policy Committee will convene on Wednesday.

In brief talks with newsmen, McDonald stuck to generalities. Asked about the chances of reaching contract agreement without a strike, the 59-year-old union chief replied: "I always want a peaceful settlement. We are not a strike-happy union."

Early Meeting

But he did confirm that the early meeting of union officials was brought about at least in part by pressure from the Kennedy administration.

President Kennedy has been urging both the union and industry to sign a contract as early as possible.

The start of union conferences was one of the earliest ever in advance of the contract expiration June 30.

Some 425,000 basic steelworkers are working currently. Their wages range between $2.28 and $4.38 an hour.

Cardinal Cicognani Dies At 80

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Gaetano Cardinal Cicognani, 80, died Monday, bringing to an end the only combination of brothers in the Roman Catholic College of Cardinals.

Cardinal Cicognani was a veteran of Vatican diplomacy. His brother, Amleto Giovanni Cardinal Cicognani, is the Vatican's secretary of state and for a quarter of a century was apostolic delegate to the United States.

Gaetano Cicognani became a cardinal in 1953 after a long and illustrious career as a diplomat for the Vatican in Bolivia, Peru, Austria and Spain.

His brother, Amleto, was made a cardinal by Pope John XXIII in his first consistory on Dec. 15, 1958.

His death reduced the number of cardinals in the college to 79—from its peak of 85—and again set off speculation that Pope John might call a consistory to create new cardinals.

House Bill Would Aid Area Schools

MONROE County schools would receive $130,450 and Pike County schools $6,621 under a Republican-sponsored plan for increasing state aid approved by the House of Representatives yesterday. Gov. David L. Lawrence is expected to veto it if it reaches him.

Rep. Van D. Yeter, Jr., of Monroe County was among 37 Democrats who voted for the GOP-sponsored proposal. The vote was 166 to 33.

The Republican plan and another sponsored by the Democrats were tacked on as amendments to other bills and the whole package will meet a final vote in the House, probably today, before going to the Senate.

Lawrence is expected to accept the Democratic proposal which would appropriate any uncommitted surplus left when the 1961-62 fiscal period ends June 30 for the schools in the 1962-63 budget.

The Republican plan would spend approximately $9,100,000 this year among most of the 2,200 school districts in the state. The amount each district will get was spelled out in the amendment.

Area Breakdown

The breakdown for Monroe County:

East Stroudsburg Borough, $6,007; Stroud Union, $40,012; Barrett Township, $5,408; Chestnut Township, $6,334; Coolbaugh Township, $5,593; Eldred Township, $1,949; Middle Smithfield Township, $15,833; Mt. Pocono Borough, $6,527; Paradise Township, $9,298; Pocono Township, $9,539; Polk Township, $5,441; Price Township, $1,913; Ross Township, $3,090; Smithfield Township, $6,623; Tobyhanna Township, $5,607; Tunkhannock Township, $3,932.

The breakdown for Pike County would have $2,571 going to Matamoras Borough, $1,340 to Milford Independent, $2,583 to Shohola Township and $127 to Westfall Township.

Yet another supported the Democratic plan of appropriating surplus funds for the schools.

The delay in enforcement of an injunction was granted to permit an expected appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court on the constitutionality of the state's Bible-reading law. As amended in 1959, students may be excused from listening to the Bible verses each day on written notice from their parents or guardian.

The special court ruled last week that Bible reading in public schools, even with the amendment violated the federal constitution's edict of separation of religion and state.

It ruled in an action brought by Edward L. Schenck, of Roslyn, a Unitarian. He has two children attending Abington High School in suburban Montgomery County.

Reading of the bible was halted in the high school last Friday but continued in the junior high and elementary schools of the Abington school district.

The Bible will be read again in the high school starting Tuesday.

Sidney Wickenover, an attorney representing the school district, told Chief U.S. Circuit Court Judge John Biggs Jr. and district Judge William H. Kirkpatrick — two of the three who heard the original case — that Bible reading and Lord's Prayer recitation "have been a settled, customary and integral part of the school district for more than 50 years."

He said "their discontinuance prior to final determination of the legal questions involved would dislocate and disrupt the established procedure to which the students are accustomed" and would "create confusion and misunderstanding among the students."

The bill would provide $2.674 billion for college aid and has the support of both Senate party leaders, Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill.

Mansfield had hoped to push the bill through the Senate Monday but a final vote was postponed until Tuesday.

Bridge Dangerous

THE "swinging bridge" which Stroud Union High School students use to cross Pocono Creek near the school will be closed for the rest of this week because of a broken cable underneath the span.

A spokesman said last night it is hoped repairs can be completed over the weekend. Bell Telephone Co. equipment is necessary to replace the cable.

The spokesman urged all students to avoid using the bridge and said if they do travel it they will be doing so at their own risk.

Stevenson Flays Cuba At Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson declared Monday that Cuba is trying to wreck the Alliance for Progress and thus make it easier for Communist subversion to spread throughout Latin America.

The chief U.S. delegate told the United Nations' main Political Committee that is the real reason Cuba sought debate now on her long-standing charges that the United States is contemplating "new plans of aggression" aimed at toppling Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government.

Reply To Delegate

Stevenson spoke in reply to a bitter attack by Cuban Delegate Mario Garcia-Inchausti, who charged the United States government with acts of corruption, defilement and even murder in the Western Hemisphere.

He declared that the U.S. delegation came to the recently concluded meeting of the Organization of American States at Punta del Este "with a bag of gold in one hand and a bloody dagger in the other." The conference voted to exclude Cuba from the Inter-American system.

'Not Negotiable'

The Cuban delegate asserted his country's political system based on Marxist-Leninist doctrine "is not negotiable."

Stevenson replied that there is plenty of room in the Western Hemisphere for a diversity of economic systems. But he added that "what we cannot accept—what we will not accept" is use of Cuba as the means through which alien powers seek to destroy democratic evolution in the Western Hemisphere.

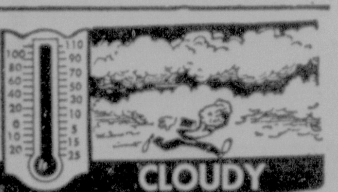

No Aggression

"The United States has not been and is not preparing any aggression against Cuba," he said. "But we have a deep and a legitimate interest in what goes on in our neighboring countries and Cuba is very near to us."

He said Cuba "is the real threat to peace in the Americas due to its subversive activities and its subservience to foreign powers."

He said the United States had already made large commitments to the economic and social aid program for the current fiscal year "and will have no difficulty in meeting the more than $1 billion pledged to the first year of the Alliance for Progress."

Court Ponders Question Of Philadelphia Election

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The legal question of whether Philadelphia voters can elect a successor to resigning Mayor Richardson Dilworth this year or next was argued Monday in Pennsylvania's Supreme Court.

Dilworth, in the job six years, has resigned effective next Monday, presumably to seek the Democratic nomination for governor.

Under the city charter no elected official can announce a candidacy for another office until he quits.

Last Thursday, three Philadelphia Common Pleas judges ruled the state Constitution and State Election Code prevent any mayor alty election until 1963. Under these laws municipal elections are held only in odd-numbered years.

Dilworth and city solicitor David Berger, in appealing to the state's highest tribunal, contend the city charter flatly guarantees the mayoralty post will be filled at the first available election, either general or municipal.

Six justices heard the oral argument today—three Democrats and three Republicans. Democrat Curtis Bok was absent due to illness.

Dilworth's position was supported by two Philadelphia Republican groups—the GOP City Committee and the Independent Republican Alliance.

The Democratic City Committee joined two taxpayers in fighting to have any mayoralty election delayed until next year.

Under the charter, City Council President James H. J. Tate automatically succeeds Dilworth as acting mayor and serves until a new mayor is elected.

Berger criticized the lower court's decision as one which "erroneously deprived the electorate of suffrage extended by the home rule charter."

Thomas D. McBride, former Supreme Court justice representing the Democratic City Committee, said the lower court decision was correct and should be upheld. He asserted the city charter "as a legislative enactment may not contravene the uniformity requirement of the constitution."

Plane Fired Upon

Boun Oum's transport — like planes bearing reinforcements and supplies—drew fire from the surrounding hills on landing at the Nam Tha air strip. Then it took off while he and his party hiked away on an inspection trip.

"A mortar shell fell just where our plane had stood," said Finance Minister Phouangphet Phanneth, who accompanied the premier. "I was rather excited, but Prince Boun Oum was calm and laughing as usual."

Astronaut Visits At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., called on President Kennedy Monday and chatted, among other things, about keeping the emphasis on the scientific aspects of his scheduled space orbit.

Newsmen appear to be more interested in personal items such as how his wife is getting her hair fixed, Glenn said.

Marine Corps Lt. Col. Glenn spent 15 minutes with Kennedy in the presidential office and told reporters, who were admitted for the last few minutes, that he had "a very pleasant morning."

The astronaut has been visiting his wife, Annie, and their two teenage children at the Glenn home in nearby Arlington, Va., before he returns to Cape Canaveral, Fla., to prepare for the next date for the space project. It's scheduled for no earlier than Feb. 13 after six postponements.

Warm For February

If you thought it was rather warm yesterday for February, you were right.

The Weather Bureau at Saranac-Wilkes-Barre Airport at Avoca reported that the high of 55 there was the highest ever recorded for a Feb. 5, topping the previous mark of 53 set in 1909.

The Temperatures

throughout Monroe County were in the 50s throughout the afternoon and in the high 40s as late as midnight.

Arrest Secret Police Group; 25,000 Police Guard Palace

PARIS (AP)—Scorning rightist plotters against his rule, President Charles de Gaulle declared Monday night he hopes soon to make peace with the Algerian nationalist rebels. He promised to release details before long for ending the 7½-year war of rebellion.

In cold terms, he told the "subversive and criminal" rightists he would use his emergency powers to crush them if they try to stand in the way of letting Algeria emerge as an independent nation.

Seven Arrested

Shortly before he spoke over radio and television, security officials announced they had dealt the Secret Army Organization a blow by arresting seven leaders of the underground's operational headquarters in Paris. They said the seven had plans to overthrow the government in a campaign to keep Algeria a part of France.

Elysee Palace was closely guarded as De Gaulle spoke from his desk. More than 25,000 police with tanks and armored cars ringed Paris, ready to strike should the rightists make any gesture of defiance.

Attempt Blocking

Earlier in the day, the rightists had tried to block relays of the president's message by bombing a TV tower in Lille and by kidnapping seven technicians from the TV-radio station at the turbulent city of Oran, a rightist stronghold in Algeria. Then, during De Gaulle's speech, a pirate radio station virtually drowned out the chief of state.

Algiers, Oran, Constantine and Bone were held in strong military check.

De Gaulle, 71, declared nothing would prevent him from reaching his objective in Algeria. He gave no hint that a formal agreement with the rebel Algerian regime in Tunis had been reached, as repeatedly rumored in recent days.

Wants Peace

The general described his Algerian objectives as an effort "to bring about peace within the shortest time, and to help Algeria to take its destiny in hand and to quickly create a provisional executive body."

France, he promised, was ready to recognize "without any restriction what will certainly come from a self-determination vote—that is a sovereign and independent Algerian state."

He never once referred by name to former Gen. Raoul Salan and the Secret Army which defies him. But there was a flash of anger in his eye when he spoke of the subversive elements "it is necessary to reduce and punish."

Condemns Terrorists

"The nation unanimously despises and condemns these people, their plots and their terrorism," he said. "Their fate could only be the concern and is only the concern of the security forces, the police and justice. The government is there to answer for that. I have even myself taken when it was necessary, I will again take if need be, the exceptional measures required."

As De Gaulle's face faded from the TV screens to the boom of "The Marseillaise," the first reactions came in.

In Tunis, the Algerian rebel regime announced it will publish a communiqué Tuesday. It gave no hint of what it would contain, but the regime has been in session for two days considering French proposals said to have been made in secret contacts in Switzerland.

Reception Varies

Algiers reported that De Gaulle's speech was heard without interruption by those who chose to listen. But thousands of Europeans followed Secret Army orders and set up a din throughout the talk.

They beat on pots and pans or blew automobile horns to the five-beat rhythm of "Algerie Française"—Algiers is French.

Oran heard De Gaulle only feebly if at all. Television screens were blank.

First, a "Marseillaise" from the pirate station "Radio France" drowned out the chief of state. Then came the five-toned signal of "Algerie Française" and a voice introducing Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, Jouhaud, a former air force general, was condemned to death in his absence after the April generals' uprising and is now Salan's chief aide.

Violent Speech

"He made a violent speech — 'We'll fight to the death' — but De Gaulle could occasionally be heard very dimly in the background."

While the battle of the airwaves was on, a plastic bomb went off with a resounding report on the 12th floor of the local governor's offices. Police said there were no casualties but the damage was heavy.

Adoula, Kennedy Meet On Many Problems In Congo

WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Cyrille Adoula conferred Monday with President Kennedy on the Congo's many problems and later said he is confident "unity, peace and security" are coming to his troubled land.

The White House released only a generalized report that the two leaders discussed the problems of secessionist Katanga and general economic ills of the Congo.

But after a capitol tea for Adoula, Sen. Albert Gore told newsmen of the premier's confidence in the future. Gore said Adoula attached importance to the fact that the Katanga government is complying with two key provisions of an agreement reached by Adoula and Katanga leader Moise Tshombe.

Lists Points

Gore said Adoula referred to the fact that (1) members of the Katanga parliament are now in Leopoldville actively participating in the Congolese central government parliament and (2) representatives of the executive branch of the Katanga province and of the central government are meeting to draft a constitution.

Adoula told questioners that "the processes of justice" will be observed in the prosecution of leftist former Vice Premier Antoine Gizenga. By that he meant, Gore said, that charges will be preferred and a trial held for Gizenga, who was ousted from the central government post.

Question Session

Gore presided over an hour-and-a-half session of questions and answers.

15-minute tea at which the visiting premier was questioned by members of the Foreign Relations Committee and a large group of other senators invited to the session.

Premier Adoula told us he thought military assistance from the United Nations can be withdrawn when law and order are firmly established in the Congo, but that economic assistance will be needed for a longer term," Gore told newsmen after the meeting.

'Determined Man'

Gore described Adoula as "a strong and determined man," and said he is confident he gave most of the senators "the impression of firmness, ability and courage."

Much of the questioning arose from the lack of discipline among some of the Congolese troops. Adoula reportedly told the senators the solution is the creation of a central armed force of "disciplined and trained young men" for which he is working.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, told reporters Adoula "impressed me very highly in the remarks he made today. I am presently of the opinion that the word spread about his orientation toward Moscow is definitely untrue."

White House press secretary Pieter Salinger earlier told newsmen Kennedy and Adoula went into "the desirability of implementing" the Katanga agreement in which Tshombe said he would bring his balky province under the central government.

Medical Deductions Give Some Relief To Taxpayer

(This is another in a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

Cost of medical care today often makes up a large portion of the average family's expenditures. To give some relief for these costs incurred by the taxpayer and his family, the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code allow a deduction for medical expenditures in arriving at the taxpayer's taxable income for the year. This deduction is allowable only to taxpayers who itemize their deductions on forms 1040 or 1040W. The standard deduction, which is taken in lieu of contributions, interest, taxes, medical expenses, etc., is automatic where the taxpayer uses form 1040A.

Medical expenses, not reimbursed by Blue Cross or other health insurance, in excess of 3 per cent of adjusted gross income for the year are deductible. However, there are certain limitations. The deduction is limited to $2,500 for each personal exemption claimed, with an overall limit of $5,000 on a separate return. For those filing a joint return or for those filing as head of household, the deduction limit is $10,000.

Taxpayers over 65 years old are allowed certain additional benefits in computing their allowable medical deduction for the year. These benefits are:

- (1) The 3 per cent limitation does not apply to medical expenditures.
- (2) If taxpayer or his wife is disabled, the deductible limit is increased to $15,000. If both taxpayer and spouse are disabled, then the deductible limit is $30,000.

Recently, Congress granted taxpayers an additional tax benefit by eliminating the 3 per cent limitation as to medical expenses paid in connection with the care of his dependent-parent, if age 65 or older.

Examples of some medical expenses which are allowable are:

- Doctor bills (includes annual physical examination)
- Hospital bills (includes X-rays and other special services)
- Ambulance hire
- Transportation costs to doctor's office
- Nursing services
- Eye examinations (includes cost of glasses)
- Dental bills (includes cost of artificial teeth)
- Insurance premiums on health and accident policies
- Cost of hearing aid, wheel chair, crutches, artificial limbs or seeing-eye dog
- Cost of special school for a mentally or physically handicapped individual
- Drugs and medicines in excess of 1 per cent of adjusted gross income

(This one per cent rule applies to all taxpayers regardless of age) Drugs include prescriptions ordered by your doctor as well as any other medicine purchased from your drug store — such as cold remedies and other patent medicines. However, tooth paste, shaving cream, cosmetics and similar items sold by drug stores are not considered as drugs and therefore are not deductible.

Health Insurance
Most taxpayers today carry some type of hospitalization or health insurance which covers all or part of the cost of doctors and hospital expenses incurred by the taxpayer and his family. Some taxpayers have been confused as to the taxability of payments received from these plans or as to the deductibility of premiums paid on these policies.

An example of how these items would be handled is as follows:

Taxpayer was hospitalized during 1961 and incurred hospital and doctor bills of $600. He was reimbursed to the extent of $500 by his hospital insurance company. Taxpayer also paid a $100 hospital insurance premium during the year. To compute the taxpayer's medical expense, subtract the amount he was reimbursed — $500 — from the amount he paid — $700 — $900 plus $100 and claim the difference — $200 — as a medical deduction to the extent it exceeds 3 per cent of adjusted gross income. If you paid the $700 in 1961 and received the $500 reimbursement in 1962, the only portion of the $500 which would be taxable as income in 1962 would be the portion of the $700 which resulted in a tax benefit in 1961.

Sick Benefits
Sick benefits are not considered as taxable income. Examples of some of these benefits that you may receive from your employer or his insurance company are:

- (1) Payments for medical expense
- (2) Payment for permanent injury (not based on time absent from work)
- (3) Damages for injury or sickness
- (4) Payments under Workmen's Compensation Act
- (5) Payments up to $100 per week for loss of wages while you are absent due to injury or sickness, except that the first week's pay is taxable unless you are hospitalized for sickness for at least one day.

7 New Suits Filed Under Anti-Trust

SEVEN NEW suits have been brought against electrical equipment manufacturers under the anti-trust laws by the 44-member group of electric utilities which includes Pennsylvania Power & Light Company, it was announced yesterday by Chas. E. Oakes, PP&L Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive officer.

The group's initial action against the manufacturers was taken on Dec. 4 when 12 suits were filed. All 19 suits were brought against General Electric Company, Westinghouse Electric Corporation and other defendants in the criminal and civil proceedings instituted by the Federal Government in the Federal Court at Philadelphia last year.

All of the suits, filed in the Federal Court in New York City allege that the defendants participated in price-fixing conspiracies in violation of the Sherman Anti-trust Act, compelling the plaintiffs to pay higher prices for equipment, Mr. Oakes said.

The products involved in the 7 new suits include: power switching equipment, power capacitors, low voltage power circuit breakers, industrial control equipment, low voltage distribution equipment, open fuse cut-outs and bushings.

Products involved in the suits filed last December are: steam turbine generators, power transformers, outdoor circuit breakers, meters, condensers, lighting arresters, insulators, instrument transformers, distribution transformers, network transformers, isolated phase buses, and power switch gear assemblies.

Other Pennsylvania companies in the litigation group are Pennsylvania Electric Company, Johnstown; and Metropolitan Edison Company, Reading.

Police Chiefs Will Honor FBI Agent

WALTER V. McLaughlin, Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, has been named as the recipient of the 1961 Achievement Award presented annually by the Police Chiefs Association of Southeastern Pennsylvania to an individual who has made outstanding contributions to the advancement of law enforcement. The presentation will take place on 1962, during the Association's Annual Assembly at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia.

F. A. Frohbose, Special Agent in Charge of the Philadelphia FBI Office, who has been selected to present the citation, advised that it was made in recognition of McLaughlin's meritorious work through the years in the field of police education with a special commendation for his research, study, and presentation of police investigative methods in the field of the sex offender.

"The Association's selection of a Special Agent of the FBI," said Frohbose, "is most gratifying and definitely indicative of the advancement made by law enforcement throughout the years. At one time awards were given only to those occupying high executive positions or for outstanding arrests. Appreciation of accomplishments in the field of police education shows a high degree of professionalism."

in Monroe County Court yesterday.

Judge Fred W. Davis imposed the sentences on Herbert LaBar, East Stroudsburg RD 2, and Ernest Peters, Walnutport RD 2.

Judge Davis accepted guilty pleas from William T. Mansfield, 20, American House, Stroudsburg, and William Carl Von Brook, 18, East Stroudsburg RD 3, on larceny charges and deferred sentencing.

The pair was arrested last December and charged with the theft of two parking meters from near Monroe and Eighth Sts.

A 17-year-old juvenile, apprehended at the same time, declined to plead guilty although he was in court at the time.

Road Survey Of Rte. 507 Underway

NEWFOUNDLAND — "Construction of Route 507 between Newfoundland and the Shiny Mountain Road, a seven-mile stretch along Lake Wallenpaupack, is presently being surveyed and will be completed during the 1962-63 construction season." District Engineer Robert Reilly informed the Southern Wayne Parent-Teacher Association members by letter in response to their requests for early action on the highway.

Two other officials who were contacted replied that the work was not under their jurisdiction.

The PTA is seeking to have the highway work on the "very bad" road between Newfoundland and Hawley corrected before the new Wallenpaupack Area Joint School is occupied in September of 1963.

During the PTA meeting at the school at which Mrs. Harold Rohrbacher presided in the absence of Carroll Fetherman, president, Mrs. Robert Rochford reported on the 1961 Penny Dinner, noting a profit of $186.

Lucille Schmalze and Joyce Cykosky were appointed to attend the meeting of the school boards on February 25 as representatives of the PTA. The fifth grade won the attendance award.

Notice was given of the Wayne County Council meeting on February 7 at Hawley at 8 p.m. It was voted to send a girl from the junior class to Keystone State this year.

The program featured a symposium on Rural and Urban Development, led by Joseph Staley, Pike County Agricultural Agent. J. R. Gilpin, Douglas Heberling and Richard Simons participated as representatives of the boards of supervisors of Green and Dreher Townships.

It was pointed out that the formation of a planning commission is the first move in anticipating stepped-up development in the area, and in laying the groundwork for a more orderly, well-planned development.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. Marie Brush and her committee.

Students Of ESSC Skate, Sled

THE RECREATION Council of the East Stroudsburg State College held a "winter outing" for men and women students at Buck Hill Falls Inn Sunday. Arrangements were made with the Inn to use their equipment and facilities.

About 80 students participated with sledding and skating the most popular sports. A number also skied.

Maryann Domitrovitz, Allentown, president of the Women's Recreation Assn., Ray Kocielek, Nesquehoning, president of the Men's Recreation Assn., and Percy Chronister, East Stroudsburg, president of the Recreation Council were in charge of the winter outing.

Yetter Seeks Reelection To State General Assembly

REP. Van D. Yetter, Jr., of Smithfield Township has announced that he will seek reelection to the General Assembly.

In making his announcement, Yetter said he has aided in legislation beneficial to Monroe County including the Stroudsburg Thruway, Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg flood control project, several new buildings at East Stroudsburg State College and the Delaware River Compact.

Yetter is vice chairman of the House highways committee, a member and secretary of the agriculture and dairy industries committee, a member of the committee on game and conservation and member of the committee on fish and fisheries. He is also chairman of the task force committee making a study of tax exempt real estate.

Portland Cites Need For Doctors

PORTLAND — The borough council was urged to take steps and secure another doctor for the area.

According to Mayor William G. Starnier the people in the town need another doctor. He said there is presently only one residing in Portland and the load is too heavy for him to carry.

Until the death of Dr. Eugene Rushin in January, the area was serviced by three doctors. The others were Dr. Edwin Krause and Dr. George Eichler.

Dr. Eichler assumed a partial load when Dr. Krause was confined to his home because of sickness about a year ago. He has carried the full load since Dr. Rushin's death.

Mayor Starnier said, "There is much evidence that more than one doctor can practice in the area. The fact alone that three men choose to practice medicine in the area is fact enough."

Dr. Eichler came to Portland in June of 1961 after completing a tour of active duty with the U. S. Air Force.

The area served by the doctor includes Portland, Upper Mount Bethel Township, on the Pennsylvania side of the Delaware River, and an area of approximately the same size in New Jersey.

CLU Banquet Slated April 28

THE CENTRAL Labor Union of Monroe and Pike Counties will hold its annual banquet April 28 in the CLU Social Club of Monroe County, a spokesman for the CLU said last night.

Harry Boyer, co-president of Pennsylvania AFL-CIO, will be the main speaker.

Following the banquet there will be a floor show and dancing.

business, is a member of Stroudsburg Rotary, Marshalls creek Fire Co. and is president of the council of Craigs Meadows Lutheran Church.

In announcing his candidacy to party members, Yetter said: "I am proud to be part of the team that made a great record in progressive legislation and created a balanced budget with a favorable tax climate for industry."

"The Democratic legislatures of 1955 and 1959-61 of which I was a part provided the financial base for the greatest program of highway construction we have ever had. We have provided the mechanics which permits us in Pennsylvania to work faster on our expressway system than the federal law itself provides."

"We are able to anticipate federal assistance and cut the time in half for the construction of the Keystone Shortway, the Anthracite Expressway, the Penn Can and others."

Cites Accomplishments

Among other accomplishments of the Legislature, Yetter cited the first comprehensive program of state aid for public libraries and legislation which permits the state to take advantage of the Kerr-Mills federal program for medical care for the aged. He called the latter "not ideal, but the best we could do under present federal law."

Yetter said he was a sponsor of the Delaware Basin Compact which binds the federal government and the states of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Delaware into a mutual organization for development of the river, including the Tocks Island dam, near Shawnee.

Budget Adopted In Bangor

BANGOR — Bangor Borough Council at its regular session last night formally adopted a budget of $162,468.04 for 1962.

Ordinances were formerly adopted establishing the following tax rates: real estate — 7 mills; occupation — 20 mills; $5 per capita tax, and one half of one percent wage tax.

In other action, council approved a $400 contribution to the 1962 recreational program at Bangor Park. It is understood that the Bangor School Board will make a similar contribution.

Mayor Quintus LaBar also granted permission to Donna Davanzo and Joanne Rehrg, directors of the summer program, to obtain contributions for equipment from townspeople during the month of March for the recreational program.

Council authorized the appointment of Edward Fogel as a scavenger at the borough dump for a three-year period. His bid was $500.

It also instructed the secretary to advertise for $2,143 worth of equipment for the Bangor Fire Department.

Upon the recommendation of Gilmore Strunk, council authorized the Bangor Park Board to expand approximately $8,500 to fiber glass and improve the Bangor Swimming Pool.

At the same time council authorized that renovations be made to the athletic facilities of the Park Field that are being requested by the Bangor Area Joint School Committee. These include increased facilities in the fieldhouse for the home team.

For approximately 40 players of visiting teams in the locker rooms and additional seating for spectators.

Mayor LaBar administered the oath of office to Sherwood J. Evans, newly elected borough treasurer, and Raymond A. Traves, newly elected assistant secretary to the borough.

William Holland was authorized to represent the council at the state convention of Borough's Associations in Pitts-

Youth, 13, Questioned In Thefts

STRODSBURG police are questioning a 13-year-old Stroud Township boy concerning the theft of about $39 from purses of choir members at Stroudsburg Methodist Church Sunday.

The boy denied taking money from the church, but admitted stealing $10 in packaged coins from the Arlington Heights Diner in Stroud Township last Monday, police said.

About eight members of the choir reported money missing after the 11 a.m. service at the church. Both doors to the choir room were locked and the thief apparently reached through a broken pane of glass to unlock one of them. An electrical alarm system protecting the room had not been connected.

CLU's Head Says Remarks Not All True

STEWART Pipher, president of the Central Labor Union of Monroe and Pike Counties, said last night, "The statements issued by George J. Wilson Jr. to area newspapers Sunday night were not all true."

"The only true statement was that motion made by him regarding the organization's endorsement of a candidate. This motion carried and the organization will not endorse any candidate for the coming election," he added.

Pipher stated, "At the meeting Sunday night no candidate requested the backing of the CLU in the coming election. Wilson's remarks that I failed to get the backing of the local organization is not true. As a matter of fact I have not announced my candidacy for any public office in the coming election."

The clash of personalities, between Pipher and Wilson, was the third one in recent months. The first of the clashes was in April when Pipher received a "National Labor Relations Board hearing on charges that Wilson denied job opportunities to him (Pipher and Stanley R. Melvin of East Stroudsburg).

Pipher said, "This meeting was the first of our meetings. Wilson has attended in five or six years. He (Wilson) is just a guy looking for trouble and is way off beam."

Pipher is not formally a council delegate, from the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers having been voted out several years ago. He claims that The Philadelphia Regional 3 office of the AFL-CIO supports his seat as he is an officer in the local organization.

He was nominated in November, elected in December and installed Sunday for his fourth straight term.

Others elected and installed were James Devaney, vice president; George Rung, corresponding secretary; Ida Krebtz, financial secretary-treasurer, and Patricia Bensyl, recording secretary.

burgh. It will be held in May. At the request of Henry Thomas, chairman of the sever committee, council authorized the purchase of an addressograph machine with equipment at a cost of $2,500.

Police were authorized to arrest any plumber doing business in the borough who does not hold a business and a plumbers license. The fee for the licenses is $10 a year for each.

ESSC's Job Director Is Flooded With Requests

SIX STATES regularly request Dr. John R. Wildrick, director of the teacher placement office at the East Stroudsburg State College, for teachers to employ in their school systems. Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Michigan, Ohio and Delaware lead in the number of requests. Other states contact ESSC, also, but in considerable less number.

Pa., N. J. Need Elementaries
According to figures released from Dr. Wildrick's office for the period Jan. 1, 1961 through Dec. 31, 1961, Pennsylvania led in request for elementary teachers, followed by New Jersey, New York, Michigan, Ohio and Delaware, in that order.

February, March and January, in that order, were the months when most of the vacancies in elementary schools were reported.

For secondary teachers the largest number of vacancies, and therefore requests for qualified and recommended graduates, come from New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania. In that order, March is the month that most requests are received at the local college, followed closely by February and April.

English, Math Teachers
In Demand

Last year Dr. Wildrick was requested to recommend graduates to teach the following subjects in secondary schools: English — 475; Mathematics—399; Social Studies—206; Music—168; General Science—145; Industrial Arts—138 and Special Education—120.

Physical Education
Women Wanted

May and April are the months that ESSC receives the greatest number of job vacancy notices for graduates in the health and physical education area. Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York need the most instructors in this field.

Women physical education teachers are more in demand than men, according to last year's statistics. Women teachers were requested in the number of 373, while men were asked for in 133 cases. Of these requests, 506 were for graduates to teach physical education only, while 43 were to teach another subject or subjects in addition.

2 Resign From East Bangor Board

EAST BANGOR — Russell Sandercock and Kenneth LaBar resigned last night from the East Bangor School Board.

Sandercock gave no reason for his resignation while LaBar said, "I am attending night school and will not be able to take part in the meetings of the board."

Miss Dolores Falcone and Paul Bittenbender were sworn in as new members of the board. Bittenbender replaced Stanley Pensyl, who died in December. Miss Falcone was elected at the polls in the November election.

No action was taken to replace the two resigning members.

SWAMPED WITH JOB REQUESTS — Dr. John R. Wildrick, director of student placement at ESSC, with Mrs. Thelma Anthony his secretary have the burdensome, but happy task of processing thousands of requests for teachers. In 1950 ESSC received 495 requests; today, 11 years later, 6700 requests go through the ESSC placement office. (Photo by Alice Hastings)

Now Is The Time

Some time ago, The Daily Record came out editorially promoting The Stroudsburgs area as the logical site for the new headquarters of the Delaware River Basin Commission. At that time, a number of the attributes of the area were enumerated, showing that with the imminence of the Tocks Island dam project this was the logical place for the headquarters of the board created as a result of the River Compact.

Since that time, area businessmen and civic-minded residents have gathered data for possible locations of the headquarters in this area. This information has been catalogued and given to the commission to support the contention that the area is ideal for the headquarters.

In a new announcement recently, the data of March 28 was set as the time when the commission would meet to conduct various items on the agenda, among them being the selection of a site for its headquarters. Their decision is most important to this area.

Now is the time for every resident of The Stroudsburgs area to put his shoulder to the wheel and boost this ideal location. Now is the time to talk about it and to boost the idea — rather than waiting till the site is announced and then wondering why our area was not selected.

It would be well for every voter and taxpayer to contact our local legislators and make their feelings known. In the short time of less than two months, the decision will be made and it will be finished business. So don't wait until tomorrow to join the campaign to have the headquarters situated in the most logical area for the over-all plan—The Stroudsburgs.

If we all work diligently it can be accomplished. There are other areas that are working hard on similar projects, and if they do a better job than us they may win!

Opinions Of Other Editors

Moscow Muffs It Again

It almost seems as if "this is where we came in" as the Soviet Union and the United States confront each other in a Security Council snarl over the Congo. The Soviets appear to be making the same mistake twice — to be retreating Congo waters that had begun to quiet down.

Soviet leaders charged that the UN operation in Katanga is lagging and demanded a Security Council debate as the Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula heads for the United States to address the UN. Mr. Adoula himself has made clear he doesn't want the debate and America's Adlai Stevenson has succeeded in heading it off.

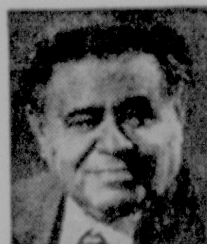

All credit to Mr. Stevenson; but the Soviet diplomats have moved with spectacular clumsiness in this matter. They let their attack on the UN operation coincide with the Lagos meeting of African leaders.

There the previous record of the Soviet Union in hindering the UN in the Congo was immediately remembered. And although the conferees had difficulty organizing they did agree on the ineptitude of the Soviet move. So the United States found itself not only supporting Mr. Adoula but having in turn the support of about a score of African leaders at Lagos.

The development is mildly reminiscent of the days when the then Ambassador Lodge told the Soviets in effect that the United States was prepared to shoot down Russian planes if necessary in order to prevent illegal intervention in the Congo. Then, too, the Africans were smarter than Moscow thought. They supported the United States and Moscow got the defeat it had invited.

George Sokolsky

The Cuban Mess

Taking it for granted that a way must be found to drive Communism out of Cuba in order to safeguard the United States, What do we do?

The simplest but least practical and popular solution is immediate war on Cuba. There is no question but that we would win that war, but there may be many consequences which would be extremely damaging and the end of which cannot be foreseen. For instance, a bush war with Cuba may end in a major war with Soviet Russia. Are we ready? Are they ready?

The effort to solve the problem successfully. In fact, it may be judged to be unsuccessful. For with Brazil and Mexico abstaining we know that nations that we help split in our face, it state the case as vulgarly but as accurately as possible.

We have then to decide whether Brazil and Mexico are not more significant opponents of country than Cuba and that we need a program of political antagonism to those countries.

Castro has made it clear by sufficient assertions that he has had the co-operation of Soviet Russia and that his enterprise is a part of the Soviet Union. Russia must be regarded as our focal enemy of current events have no meaning. Cuba, then, as an acknowledged agent of Russian policy, is an enemy of the United States.

Even if the Russians are willing to end their foray in Vietnam, what is their position in Cuba, Brazil and Mexico? In a word, is Soviet Russia moving its enterprise against the United States from Southeast Asia to Latin America and are we in a better position to encounter the Russians in Latin America than in Southeast Asia?

This is not an easy question to answer. Every day I meet men who have answers to all questions. They know precisely how to handle this situation, but I am sure that neither the President nor the Secretary of State are equally sure.

The are circumvented by the course of events and by knowledge of the facts and the more they look at 50 years of disturbance, the more they must wonder why there is no willing end to disturbance.

For instance, while Khrushchev's star is waning, it is clear that several new groups are emerging. In Asia, Red China has become a principal factor of world disturbance with a special interest in Latin America.

True, China's interest in Latin America is not new. Since about 1840 or earlier, Chinese were imported in Latin American countries from Kwangtung Province and they settled in large numbers over the years. They fared well in many of the Latin American countries and contributed large sums to Dr. Sun Yat-sen for the 1912 and subsequent revolutions in China.

In fact, Dr. Sun's Minister of Foreign Affairs, Eugene Chen, came from Trinidad and was culturally British.

When Communist evangelism developed, Red China mapped out Latin America as an area for itself and sent to Latin American countries, Russian and German trained Chinese to serve as engineers and various kinds of experts. They have played a great role in the development of Communist movements in Mexico and Cuba.

If when you look at pictures of Central Americans and some appear to be Chinese, the fact is that they probably are Chinese who have become assimilated with the indigenous population.

Red China then is playing an exceptional role in Latin America and that role is specifically anti-American. It has been assumed by Americans that they can export what they call Democracy to such countries as Red China or Latin America. This has proved to be a fallacy.

Whereas Marxism, as a revolutionary force, can be exported and is accepted in alien countries, Democracy has proved to be unassimilable. It rather develops as a concept of free choice over a long period of ancient mores and family customs.

There are many explanations for this, the principal one being that Democracy makes for individual freedom which even in its mildest expressions in disorderly, whereas ancient societies wish to preserve discipline and order.

The result has been that the Red Chinese who have come into Latin America, as Communist evangelists, have made extraordinary progress. They do not offer freedom or liberty but order and discipline and the power of a successful revolution.

About Town

A recent anecdote going the rounds in Moscow is to the effect that the communists may yet claim Adam and Eve were Soviet citizens. The reasoning, cynical Russians say, is very simple: Adam and Eve had no clothes to wear, they had only one apple between them, and they believed they were in Paradise.

There are bad people who would be less dangerous if they had no good in them.

Middle age is the time of life when after one night out you need two nights in.

Wishful War Scare

The Pennsylvania Story

'Oddball Makeup Factor'

Harrisburg—The key as to whether Pennsylvania's lawmakers will soon be back home shoveling snow or pushing a lawn mower later — admittedly a most exciting thought at best — rests for the most part in the laps of those fifty doughy gents who make up Pennsylvania's State Senate.

This is not to say that just because "the hardy fifty" hold the rank of Senator that they therefore automatically have the say on such a matter; rather the point is that this session because of an "oddball" makeup factor — in other words, a circumstantial event exclusively — they do have the "yea" or "nay" say.

The "oddball makeup factor" of course revolves around the rather nettling point (to administration Democratic leaders) that neither Democratic nor Republican blocs in the upper chamber can do much horsing around without the consent of the other — tacitly or otherwise — because they are split evenly right down the middle, 25-25.

To do anything in the Senate this year (and the same applied during the 1961 session) — that is, to do anything from that sometimes distant viewed point of accomplishment — requires at least one vote from the "other 26th vote."

In the House of Representatives the story is a little different. In that august chamber comprising 210 legislative stalwarts, 106 votes are needed of course to decree the time of coffee break — but in this case administration Democrats are in rather handsome position for dictating the activities of that chamber, with a heart-warming membership of 109.

Thus the question of whether it is to be snow shovels or lawn mowers doesn't rest in the House where a decision can be made flatly one way or the other by the controlling administration bloc — but in the Senate where the snapping of senatorial suspenders is a decidedly more critical item.

The point to be made is that while administration leaders have chafed vigorously at a hoped-for early adjournment — some of the legislative sports have been heard mumbling about a March 1 get-out-of-town date — in actuality they don't have the final say.

However there is an even more critical analogy in all this — in addition to the somewhat ordinary question of fiscal adjournment, there is the equally thorny question of what is to happen to the administration's tidy one-billion-dollar general fund budgetary proposal for the coming fiscal year.

The fiscal monster has sailed through the (administration-controlled) House and Senate Appropriations Committees with (as might be expected) nary a hitch. These administration-controlled legislative "watchdog" committees didn't even knock a mousy cent off the administration's budgetary request in their "close scrutiny" process — they added $71,209!

Thus in the administration-controlled House the budget is expected to whistle through with flying dollar bills — just like any resolution calling for a March 1 final adjournment date might whistle.

In the Senate though the story could be decidedly different. If the Republican anti-administration bloc should decide on a detailed and drawn-out look at that budget, there is nothing the administration bloc can do (other than throw political fits and stamp indignant feet) — a decided contrast to the atmosphere prevailing in the House.

In other words, the real budget test comes in the Senate — not the House where it is scheduled to sail this week.

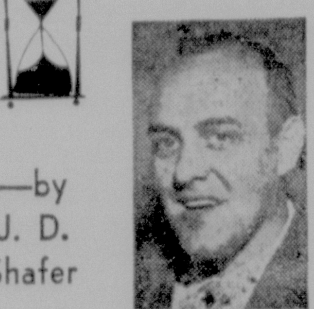

(As a point of side interest — while the House convened for the week yesterday, the Senate starts its assault up Capitol Hill today.)

The Allen-Scott Report

Modifications May Get Bill On Its Way

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott
Washington — President Kennedy has better than a fighting chance to get a modified version of his medical care plan for the aged out of the House Ways and Means Committee.

A carefully-screened survey made under the personal direction of White House aides shows that the long-stalled proposal can be pried out of the death-like clutches of that committee if the President is willing to make some compromises.

These aides, headed by Larry O'Brien, the White House's chief legislative legman, reported to the President that his medical care plan in its present form now has the support of 11 committee members.

This is two more backers than the nine that supported legislation in last year's show-down test.

However, 13 votes are needed to turn the magic trick.

President Kennedy is being told that these two additional votes can be obtained if he will agree to a small number of changes, none of which will radically change his plan to put the program under the social security system.

For instance, one of the most changes involves the financing of the program and its book-keeping procedures.

The suggested change calls for the establishment of a special account in the social security trust fund from which the medical benefits would be paid out.

This fund would be financed by a tax of one-half of one percent on the first $5,000 of an individual's earnings—one-quarter percent paid by the employee and one-quarter by the employer, of the full one-half percent by self-employed persons.

Under the President's present proposal, medical care benefits would be paid out of the regular social security trust fund from which retired persons now receive their pension payments.

These new medical benefits would be financed by the same increase in the social security tax provided under the compromise plan. However, in addition to these funds the medical care benefits under the Administration's plan would be financed from the net gain to the social security system from raising the tax base to $5,200.

Freedom of Choice—Another proposed change would permit persons under social security to choose whether to accept medical benefits at the age of 65, or receive higher social security payments when they are eligible to retire. As now drafted, the President's program makes the medical care benefits mandatory security.

The President is now discussing these proposed changes with Health, Education & Welfare Secretary Abraham Ribicoff to determine whether to accept them.

He has been told that if he agrees to these changes, plus a few other minor ones, at least 13 of the 25 committee members will support his bill.

That's enough to free the legislation.

Once this roadblock is cleared, Speaker John McCormack, D. Mass., believes he can slip the bill through the 'house Rules Committee. He is already on record as saying that the House will pass the measure if given a chance to vote this session—a congressional election year.

Breaking The Ice — There is new evidence that the Speaker's prediction may be sound.

The solid GOP opposition in the House finally has been broken.

Representative Hastings Keith, R. Mass., who represents the Bedford area, is announcing his support for medical care for the aged under the social security program.

He is the first Republican congressman to publicly declare his support for the plan.

Representative Keith has told Democratic leaders that he believes a number of other GOP members will vote for the modified measure.

He claims that the social security approach "is sound because it permits the individual to contribute during his working years toward the benefits he will receive when 65."

House Democratic leaders now are planning to push for a show-sometime after Easter. Their strategy is to delay the crucial test until after the House disposes of the President's tax and tariff proposals.

Meanwhile, they have begun circulating a census report which shows the number of voters over the age of 65 in each member's district.

This document is expected to become the best-read report in Congress. It also may spell the difference between victory and defeat for the President's medical care proposal.

"It's good she wears her hair that way. She'd never have a date if they ever found out how she looks."

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

It's too late now but if yesterday at 11 p.m. you had taken two dozen eggs outside, found a patch of firm ground, you could have balanced them on their small ends and watched them standing up like a field of 24 mushrooms.

Well, that was the tip sent to me as a historical fact by my favorite authority on the Chinese who report that Chinese eggs stand on end the very first hour of Spring which comes around the 22nd day of the 12th month of the Chinese lunar year, and have been doing it for more than 3,000 years.

However, there were several reasons why I couldn't try it out myself. A minor problem was finding a bit of firm earth these soggy days when every pair of shoes takes on a mud-colored mudguard in a sort of two-tone effect no matter where you step.

The major reason, however, was that the Chinese new year, which I had been saving this priceless information for, sort of snuck up on me. Maybe, I suggest hopefully but a trifle doubtfully, American eggs would work that way on the first hour of American springtime.

■ We don't all forget it again before then. I haven't even caught up with last weekend. At one merry gathering, Numa Snyder was beating the drum for the big Memory Lane Dance for adults only next Saturday, with some able assistance from Rod MacLeod and Bob Clark, who shared with Numa the golden era of the Big Bands. Quite some authorities they are, too, especially on which girl singer was with which band when.

However, Mac was left alone in his enthusiasm for bagpipe music. Well, almost alone although he's converted his wife, Jerry. After all, they did have a piper at their wedding. But I did catch up with Ruth Sanborn's wedding, which was just as sweet and simple as it sounds. And I was able to prove to George Ayres that I do not carry my typewriter under that Hat!

5-Minute Shrimp Curry

1 small onion, sliced
1 small clove garlic, minced
1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon curry powder
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of celery soup
1/2 cup milk
1 pound shrimp, cooked and cleaned (or two 6-ounce cans, drained)
1/2 cup cooked peas
3 cups cooked rice (1 cup uncooked or one 4 1/2 package precooked)

Cook onion, garlic, and curry powder in butter until onion is tender. Stir in soup, milk, shrimp, and peas. Cook over low heat about 5 minutes. Stir now and then. Serve over rice. Makes 4 servings.

Supper In Five Minutes Features Shrimp Curry

From far distant places have come interesting food customs. From the Near East, for instance, the tradition of serving dishes seasoned with curry powder is a familiar one. This originated to cover up the flavors of poor meat, etc. Through the years this has been overcome and the spicing is now a specialty.

Why not treat your family to this foreign specialty tonight in the form of a delicious Shrimp Curry. It's made so easily with the outstanding all-American short cut . . . canned condensed cream of celery soup. There's no more perfect base for this saucy good main dish.

To go along, rice shares the curry tradition. It's texture, color, and flavor complements the flavorful curry.

Customarily a curry is served with an assortment of condi-

Dear Abby

Possible, But Unlikely!

Dear Abby: I'm a college graduate—my fiancée isn't. I like the theater—she falls asleep at plays. Art interests me—it seems ridiculous to her. Certain films move me—she yawns. Literature fascinates me—she wouldn't reach for a book if it was about of fall on her head. Yet, darn it, she's a very human type with sound ideas about raising a family—the kind I'd like. When I get all set to tell her the wedding is off, I take one look and — zowie! — I'm looked again. Could I swallow some of my interests, marry her and be happy?

FRED

Dear Abby: I live in a project and the young woman who lives one apartment over from me is my problem. When my clothesline is not in use, she always asks me if she can use it. I am not a selfish person but I hate to let her use my lines because her clothes never look clean and I don't want people to think they are mine. What should I do?

GOOD NEIGHBOR

Dear Neighbor: Be a really good neighbor and give the young woman some helpful tips on how to get her clothes as clean-looking as yours. (What a spot for a commercial!) This is even more generous than just giving her the same old line.

Dear Abby: I am writing this with the hope of seeing it in print as a warning to other well-meaning mothers. We have a beautiful, 17-year-old daughter. We tried to raise her right and thought we were doing a fine job, as she was an obedient child, an honor student and a leader in church activities. We failed somewhere because she brought us the news that she was in trouble with a high school boy. In my grief, I confided our problem to two friends, begging them not to repeat it. I told them because I needed their prayers. Abby, these two friends, told their daughters, who spread it all over school. Soon the whole town knew it. Our telephone started ringing and our daughter was like a hunted animal. On the verge of nervous breakdown, we sent her to a home for Unwed Mothers. She can never come back to this town. I blame no one but myself. Please tell other mothers to do their praying alone.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Tuesday, February 6, 1962
Auspicious day for the kind, heart, and of individual workaday matters. It leads to new gains, greater advantages. Novelty may please but is not always in order. Calm, restful day.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Venus in favorable aspect augments artistic, sensitive nature and aptness in whatever your projects. But you are never happy, nor will you ever be, if not working in a field your talents complement.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — A brand new trick, a recent device or suggestion may enhance your efforts. Be careful not to take on just anything, different merely because it is different. Today needs coaching, reliability.

June 22 to July 21 (Cancer) — A strong month, with many days definitely one way or the other, however today asks wisely, cautious action and planning to keep it from drifting, even becoming dull.

July 22 to August 23 (Leo) — Exchange with the experienced and sound thinking, keep your mind out but recognize the value of true discernment. Superior knowledge may tempt one to act too soon.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Mercury is concerned with supporting and supplying that which is taking deep and narrow and one-sided, into the broad realm of adaptability, discovery, and estimable results.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — You may strike a lighter vein than ordinarily but it is also stimulating and attractive. Work on that which shows true possibility, credibility. Which not to operate.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — A fine line between the constructive and eventually destructive and control some value, he disturbing. So study, investigate more, ask questions before committing self. Don't HAVE FAITH, don't wait.

November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius) — Nearer to fulfilling one can make foolish, needless mistakes, take special care with details, and not to rush conclusions. Be well prepared first, then deliberate, be sure-footed.

December 24 to January 23 (Capricorn) — Guard against going in opposite direction to that planned or deemed best. A "trial" turn to the wrong road is often easy to make, but the right road, smile through pressing moments.

January 24 to February 19 (Aquarius) — The various departments of partnership mind not to overstate or underestimate feelings, suggestions, anticipations. Interpret carefully. Penetrate deep to learn real reasons.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — You may be interested in new matters, issues. Fine, if you are not taking time from due work obligations. Controlling energies makes the difference between success and frustrated attempts.

YOU BORN TODAY: This is the birth date of an American. An idealistic, yet fond on the ground individual who can cut corners in clever manner and reach the top with seeming little effort. But you are cutting strong effort into what you do all the while. You are able to conceal trying moments others cannot. You visualize, enable, your mind is not choked by minor activities. You CAN overwork. God will bless you if you ask Him and he is in the right way, no matter how hard at times. Months ahead offer wide achievement, and opportunities for you to shine. Don't let sensitivity make you give up a difficult but worthwhile adventure. Birthdate: 1919. Actor, singer.

Eighteen ladies gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Layton Osborne for the second of the series of luncheons given by the WSCS of the Methodist Church. They were Mrs. William Fisher, Mrs. John Jennings, Sr., Mrs. George Hay, Mrs. Raymond Pootstra, Mrs. Robert Richards, Mrs. Sadie Decker of East Stroudsburg, Mrs. Anna Warzmann of Stroudsburg, Mrs. Earl Carlton, Mrs. Nelson Lightner, Sr., Mrs. Harvey Hay, Mrs. Elmendorf Runyan, Mrs. Seldon Ponder, Mrs. Charles Rapp, Miss Rachel Hall, Mrs. Norman Klepper, Miss Nellie Burd, Mrs. Otto Kirschner, the hostess Mrs. Osborne. Mrs. Osborne also welcomed and served the guests. A get-well card, signed by all present, was sent to Mrs. Friend Akers of East Stroudsburg, who usually attended the luncheons but was ill. Mrs. Lightner led a period of singing old-time favorites and games finished the social hour.

The ladies were invited to the home of the WSCS president, Mrs. Richards, for a luncheon two weeks later. Bradley Kaiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kaiser, reached his fourth birthday last Wednesday. He found it all he had anticipated as to gifts and a family party with relatives present.

Officers Club Meets Feb. 19

NEWFOUNDLAND — A business session has been set up for Feb. 19 for the Officers' Club of Newfoundland at the home of Miss Shirley Lou Simons, Sterling. Plans were discussed during the January meeting at the home of Mrs. Valda Stevens, at which Emogene Nauman, Gloria Nauman, Ruth Everett, Shirley Lou Simons and Margaret Oberly were present.

Only The Name Changes

Field Virtually Same In World Ski Championships

By HARVEY HUDSON

CHAMONIX, France (AP)—The World Games of the International Ski Federation replaced Monday the World Ski Championships, which apparently are doomed by an entanglement with politics.

"We'll have the same races, the same courses, the same schedule," said an official in announcing the change. "Just the label will be changed. It will still be the unofficial world championships."

There was still a technical possibility that the World Championships could go on, but nobody believed it likely.

If Granted

The International Ski Federation (FIS) ruled Sunday night in Bern that the World Championships could be held only if the East German team was granted visas by Tuesday noon. The three-power Allied Travel Office in West Berlin said flatly no change of policy is in sight. That means no visas for the East Germans and no World Championships.

The vanguard of 300 skiers from some 30 nations, including the Americans, began arriving in Chamonix Monday. They wandered disconsolately through rain which fell all day. The village streets were rivers of slush. Snow fell Sunday night on the slopes which were being prepared for the World Championships. The snow was badly needed but the rain was no help.

The powerful Austrian team which is expected to dominate the newly styled World Games, has not yet arrived. The Austrians were in Megeve last week for the Emile Allias Cup, but had not decided whether to stay in Chamonix this week or return home.

Will Participate

In Innsbruck, the Austrian Ski Association announced the Austrian ski team would participate in the Chamonix event.

The American men's and women's teams moved into Chamonix Monday. "The best skiers will be here," said the American coach, Bob Beattie of the University of Colorado. "It will still be the championships."

The Czechoslovakian team has left. The Bern decision was not involved, officials said. The Czechs were called back because of their poor showing in preliminary meets.

The Russian team manager said he was on the telephone with Moscow earlier Monday, but he declined to say what had been decided.

Cavs, Pocono Fives Play Home; Slaters Visit PA

THREE area high school gyms will be active tonight as scholastic basketball heads into its final half of competition.

Two of the games will be local as Hellertown faces the Cavaliers at East Stroudsburg in L-N loop game and Nesquehoning travels to Swiftwater to meet the Pocono Mountain five.

The other encounter is an arch-rival affair between Pen Argyl and Bangor. The game, a Lehigh-Northampton League fray, will be played at Pen Argyl.

College is idle. East Stroudsburg State College will be idle tonight but will

Poc. Sportsmen Meet Wednesday

A SPECIAL meeting of the Pocono Mountains Sportsmen Assn. will be held Wednesday night at Powlett's Restaurant, Mt. Pocono. The program will begin at 8 p.m.

On the agenda will be the distribution of a new deer feed being experimented by the organization. Members can secure their quota for distribution among the deer herds in the mountains.

Also, a motion picture film of the N. Y. Giants and the Baltimore Colts sudden-death playoff game in professional football league will be shown. Refreshments will be served.

Jonaire Dogs Collect Wins In Fla. Shows

JONAIRE dogs, owned by Mrs. John Sutton of Mt. Pocono, won in nine out of 11 shows in Florida during the month of January.

The male miniature Schnauzer, Jonaire Pocono Top Garland took winners' dog, best of winners, best of breed, and third in the final Terrier Group at Tallahassee on Jan. 3rd.

He also took reserve winners at the St. Petersburg Dog Show on Jan. 5th and the Tampa Show on Jan. 7th. On Jan. 8th, he won at the Bradenton Show.

On Jan. 16th, Top Garland took winners' dog at Palm Beach Dog Show; at Orlando on Jan. 18th and at Daytona on Jan. 19th.

The female miniature Schnauzer, Jonaire Pocono Florie Dorie took winners' bitch at Tallahassee on Jan. 3rd; winners' bitch at St. Pete on Jan. 5th; at Tampa on Jan. 7th and at Bradenton on Jan. 8th. She also took best opposite sex at all these events.

At the Palm Beach Dog Show on Jan. 16th, Florie Dorie took winners' bitch, best of winners and best of breed, also 3rd in the final Terrier Group. She was reserve winners at Daytona Beach, on Jan. 19th. At the Jacksonville Dog Show on Jan. 21st, Florie Dorie was winners' bitch and best of winners, and best of opposite sex.

The puppy female Miniature Schnauzer, Jonaire Pocono Sassy Tasket, took reserve winners' bitch at the Sarasota Dog Show on Jan. 9th.

Aussie Retains Welter Title

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Gary Cowburn retained his Australian welterweight boxing title Monday night by stopping former champion George Barnes in the sixth round at Sydney Stadium.

Cowburn handed Barnes a severe beating. Barnes' manager threw in the towel in the sixth to save his exhausted fighter from further punishment.

Barnes weighed 146½ pounds, Cowburn 142.

let's get the kinks
out of the kids!

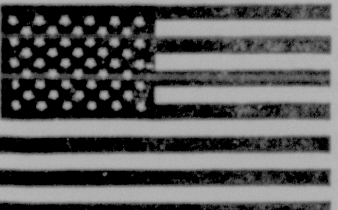

It's a shocking fact that many of our youngsters nowadays are so far under par that they can't pass simple physical fitness tests. They're in danger of becoming tomorrow's "soft Americans."

This danger is so real that President Kennedy has called for more emphasis on physical education. And the program of vigorous daily exercise recommended for all schools by the President's Council on Youth Fitness will get the kinks out of the kids. That's been proven in many schools.

See to it that your child gets proper exercise, every day, in his school. Urge your school board to adopt and carry out a vigorous program for physical development.

If it isn't doing so, find out why. Act at your next PTA meeting!

The President's Council on Youth Fitness

Published as a public service in cooperation with The Advertising Council and the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association.

Benefits Paid

NEW YORK (AP) — Benefits paid by health insuring organizations averaged $17.3 million a day last year, the Health Insurance Institute reported. It said this was $1.8 million a day higher than the average daily payments in 1960.

Sales Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — S.H. Kress and Co. variety stores reported sales for the four weeks ended Jan. 25 were up 4 per cent to $7,128,017 from the same period a year ago.

THE DAILY NEWSPAPER IS A TIRELESS RECORDER OF EVENTS.

It looks for the human interest element everywhere, and in many places where the average person wouldn't think of looking. The daily newspaper mirrors the lives of people in all walks of life, of all ages, creeds, colors and nationalities. This fullness and richness of the daily newspaper makes it one of the joys of daily life — and one of the joys of advertisers who find it the answer to their sales needs.

The Daily Newspaper

By William A. Doyle

Q. I am aware that some stock (IBM, Xerox, Polaroid, etc.) have big changes in market price almost every business day. But I would like to know what causes normally quiet stocks suddenly to shoot up or down.

A. As a newcomer to the market, I have been watching stock prices closely. I have often noticed that a stock that has shown very little price change for weeks or months will suddenly rise or fall by as much as $5 or more for no apparent reason. Why?

A. Right off the bat, you should understand that the market price of a stock, at any given time, is the price at which that stock last traded — the price agreed upon by the most recent buyer and the most recent seller.

Remember that trading of stocks on a stock exchange is done according to the auction-market principle of supply and demand.

There's a time-worn adage to explain why a stock, or stocks in general, rose in price at any given time — "There were more buyers than sellers."

Basically, that is the story. Naturally, there has to be a reason or reasons for an upsurge in buying.

It might be that there was some good news about the company whose stock is involved. Maybe it landed a new contract or brought out a new product. Maybe it reported higher earnings or increased its dividend or made some other happy announcement.

Maybe good news is only rumored. Sometimes that will cause a lot of buying demand for a stock. Maybe a big brokerage firm or a big investment advisory service recommends the stock, or puts out a favorable report on it.

I could go on until editorial judgment uses a big black pencil to trim back an almost endless list of "maybes."

It all boils down to the fact that there may be many different reasons for many different people to buy a certain stock and send the market price of that stock up.

Q. We would like to buy a few shares of either General Electric household refrigerators or General Electric washing machines for our son. Where must we go to transact such an investment?

A. To many readers, this may seem to be a naive letter. But think it over. Picking a product with which you are familiar (and evidently satisfied) isn't the worst way to make a first move toward investing.

After all, if a company puts out a good product, it's reasonable to assume that the company is a good company and that an investment in its stock would be a good investment.

This reasoning might not hold true in all cases. But it does in this case. Both products mentioned in the question are, of course, manufactured by General Electric Co. Any brokerage firm will be only too happy to handle an order to buy GE stock.

Even though an investor or potential investor is familiar with a company's products (some of the products in this case) it's always advisable to learn more about the company and its stock.

Ask the broker through whom you will buy the stock to give you additional information.

NEW YORK (AP) — Web and Knapp, Inc., obtained a commitment for $8 million of temporary and permanent financing for developing a massive apartment development in Pittsburgh. The financing is by the Mellon National Bank and Trust Co. of Pittsburgh.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

'62 CORVAIR MONZA CLUB COUPE
If you want sports car spice on a budget—this one's for you. Corvairs have a perky new look for '62, sporty new interiors and bigger new brakes. They climb, corner and cling with road-rally reflexes, what with that 4-wheel independent suspension and the engine in the rear.

A Vacation Home Is Both Functional And Practical

NEWEST ADDITION to the line of fine furniture handcrafted by Frederick Duckloe and Bros., Inc. is this "Buckingham House Trip Bow Back Windsor Arm Chair. The chair is a reproduction of the original at Mystic Seaport, Mystic, Connecticut. Available in a number of finishes and Duckloe's famed February Sale is now in progress at the Portland showrooms.

A wide and varied selection of furniture, rugs, bedding, and room accessories are "Green Tagged" to give you an opportunity to save on their fine furnishings. Stop in their showrooms whether you plan to browse or buy. . . . Their Golden Eagle Inn "just down the block", offers an interesting menu and "spirits" through the swinging doors.

Females of many mosquito species need blood to enable their eggs to mature.

Stop And See Plans At R.C. Cramer's

DESIGNED to accommodate your family, whether large or small, the Popular Mechanics Vacation Home features unique modular construction and simplicity of design.
Panels or wall sections are "Prefabbed" to cut down construction on site, then transported to your lot and erected in units. The basic unit features living room, bedroom, dining room, kitchen and bath.
The second unit contains two additional bedrooms; and, unit 3 consists of screened porch and a storage area.
The basic unit alone can accommodate a family of four, but the home has been designed so that it can be expanded at any time with a minimum of work and expense.

The cost of the materials for the basic unit has been estimated at approximately $3000 so that now families who have always longed for a second home can afford to have one.

The February, March, and April issues of Popular Mechanics magazine feature complete details of the Vacation Home and give instructions on beginning the "pre-fabbing" of the home in your garage or home workshop.

R. C. Cramer Lumber Co. is the local Popular Mechanics "Idea Project Center" and can supply you with all plans and materials for the PM Vacation Home.

Haynes Motors Features "Space Maker" Car Sale

HAYNES MOTORS Garage and car lot was loaded to the hilt so they decided to do something about it.

Last Wednesday everybody at Haynes came to a sudden realization that they needed space and plenty of it "for there was another load on the way."

This meant everything had to go including brand new 1962 Falcons, Galaxies and Thunderbirds—the whole "Kaboodle."

Haynes Motors "Space Maker" sale that is now in progress is really a sale no man or woman can afford to miss. (This has been verified by some more than happy people who have driven away in their respective new 1962's.)

What is so satisfying about buying a new Ford at Haynes is the service you can look forward to after the sale—its the best!

Anyone having the slightest idea of a new car will not hesitate one moment once they've been to Haynes Motors at Ninth and Scott Sts., Stroudsburg.

For your convenience they are open Monday through Friday nights until 9 p.m.

If you haven't been to Haynes Motors yet, it just might be too late—better hurry.

Color TV Demonstration Scheduled At Queenan's TV

THINKING about color television? Running this week, Feb. 5th, 7th and 10th will be some of the most outstanding shows of the season, according to William Queenan TV Sales and Service at 750 Main St., Stroudsburg.

From early morning to late at night, you'll find shows that will show color to its full beauty. Queenan, authorized dealer for famed RCA Victor Color Television points out that color has finally "arrived" and that RCA color sets are just as trouble-free as black and white sets.

RCA have been pioneers in the field of color TV and are the foremost manufacturers of sets.

The critics say that RCA Victor Color TV is so bright, so true, that you have to see it to believe it. . . . and that's exactly what "Bill" Queenan wants you to do.

Sets will be in operation on the days listed above and the public is invited to see color TV in his showrooms from 7 p.m. until 8 midnight on these days.

Whether you prefer color or black and white TV, you'll find several interesting models on display at Queenan's in Stroudsburg.

Cyphers Featuring Big Sale

WHEN Floyd Cyphers of Cyphers Electric says "Lowest Prices In The Poconos" he means it! A stroll through his store during his OVERSTOCK SALE which is now in progress will prove the point.

In every department, you'll find super values that save you many dollars. For instance, in the Refrigerator Department, you'll find every refrigerator specially priced and at savings of as much as $200.

In the Range Department you can choose from built-ins or conventional style ranges. Outstanding in the department is a new G-E 30 inch Electric range with large 21 in. oven, calrod surface units and oven units. This beautiful range with no drip top is priced at just $145.

Whether it's a new TV, stereo set, washer or dryer, you'll find that Cyphers Electric can save you money.

A variety of perching birds rub their feathers with live ants. So do the wren, green woodpecker and species of parrots.
